The information material that was produced within the Come On Labels project (e.g. posters and leaflets) was distributed in 89 municipalities across Greece. The material was displayed in municipal premises, so that both consumers and municipal employees could be informed about the new energy labels of electric household appliances.

Municipalities of different size and geographical position were selected, so that an important number of citizens across the country could be reached.

The following figure presents a map of Greece. For a more detailed overview, the country has been divided in seven geographical areas marked with a letter (A, B, C, D, E, F, G). A zoom in each area together with a list of the relevant municipalities to which information material has been sent is presented in the following figures.
